ROUTE TO THE PEAK OF MONCAYO

→ Duration

Around four hours, ascent/descent.

→ Difficulty

Medium-high, due to unevenness.

→ Recommended time of the year

All year round, although the route is made more difficult by winter's low temperatures and may prove dangerous. Therefore, good equipment: mountain boots, walking stick, drinking water, food, a good map and warm clothing, are a must. In spring, both, the vegetation and the views are superb.

Reaching the summit of Moncayo makes for an exceptional experience for nature lovers. The shortest and most logical route, is also the most frequented, even though it has its difficulties given its gradient from its beginnings, rising 650 metres in just two kilometres and a half, therefore a steady pace is best.

The Sanctuary may be reached by car, both from Tarazona and San Martín, or from the Monastery of Veruela. Once past the Sanctuary, next to the beautiful path leading to the spring and the San Gaudioso hermitage, a path close to a spring appears on the right. The path is well signed with white and yellow marks.

The route can't be missed, as the path itself leads us to Loma del Moncayo (hillock). Firstly amongst pines, later turning to the right to finish up at the Sanctuary and El Cucharón.

After which, the road zigzags to abandon the pinewood, slowly leading us to the San Miguel Cirque. Here, the path diverges becoming steep and stony and one should take the left. Although the road is clear there are many milestones. Walking along a gentle ridge allows us to see both cirques, San Gaudioso on the left and San Miguel on the right.

Far to the right, the peak can be made out. Slowly we reach Paloma del Moncayo (2250 metres). The tough part is already done. There are two big milestones signalling the point, we can see the peak of Moncayo on the right, the peak of Lobera on the left, in front of us Castilla and behind Aragón.

At this point the landscape majestically appears. From here to the peak, around fifteen minutes, with the company of the cierzo (the cold North wind) that, according to tradition has its origin here.

MONCAYO, AT 2316 METRES, IS THE HIGHEST ELEVATION OF THE IBERIAN SYSTEM. ITS IMPOSING FORM OVER THE EBRO PLAINS IS PERFECTLY VISIBLE FROM ALL OVER THE AREA, ESPECIALLY ON CLEAR DAYS THE MOUNTAIN CAN BE OBSERVED FROM THE PYRENEES. IN ADDITION THE BEAUTIFUL VIEWS, THE VARIETY OF VEGETATION AND FAUNA ARE FANTASTIC IN THIS AREA.

At the peak an image of The Virgin of the Pilar, a cross, the geodesic vertex and remains of ancient constructions can be found. On a clear day the Pyrenees can be seen. We are at highest point of the Ebro Valley and the Iberian System: 2316 metres above sea level.

The descent can be done along the same path, gentle until the Loma and steeper to the Sanctuary.

There are three ways of taking a longer and more enjoyable route.

1 One option would be to park at the «Fernando El Católico» youth campsite. From here to the Sanctuary the GR 90.1 may be taken, from Lituénigo leading us through beautiful woods, taking a shortcut, with never ending zigzags, this route in itself will add a little more than two hours to the ascent.

2 Another proposal could be to park in Agramonte, where the San Martín and the Monastery of Veruela roads meet, at 1085 metres. From here the route can be continued by road, until the first crossing with the GR 90.1, at the Tarazona refuge point, a large building on the left side of the road. This route takes one and a half-hours, from Agramonte to the Sanctuary.

3 From the Los Frailes Fountain, where there is a parking place at a sharp bend on the right side of the road, about 300 metres of incline and about 45 minutes more are added to the route. This option is more advisable than the route from the Sanctuary.

TARAZONICA VIA VERDE (GREEN ROUTE) AND THE MALÓN WATER MUSEUM

→ Duration

If both activities are combined the whole day

→ Difficulty

Low. Drinking water and food for the Via Verde route and sun protection is advisable in summer.

→ Recommended time of the year

Spring and autumn. In summer avoiding the midday hours is advisable.

The Malón Water Museum offers an original, large-screen, audio-visual display on the formation, route, nature and the villages of the Malón basin which includes a voice over explanation. A beautiful slideshow is also projected onto the wall along with panels showing the geology of the area and the fauna and flora of the Queiles River. One ends at the magnificent viewpoint where most of the river's basin, which Moncayo overlooks, can be contemplated. On a clear day even the peaks of the Pyrenees may be seen.

After the visit, starting at Malón station, the 22 kilometres route of the Tarazonica Via Verde begins. From Malón we can walk towards Tarazona, 9 kilometres later, the path is very well prepared and can be covered on foot or by bicycle. The route is suitable for all visitors.

Crossing the river lowland a complex course of ditches make up a large irrigation system dating from the XIX century, making the most of the river and watering the lands to the base of the valley. The route takes place amongst croplands, olive, almond and fruit trees.

One easily reaches monumental Tarazona, whose urban area, full of civil and religious buildings, deserves a visit.

WE PROPOSE A VISIT TO THE MALÓN WATER MUSEUM COMBINED WITH A ROUTE ALONG THE TARAZONICA VIA VERDE, AN OLD RAILWAY TRACK, NOWADAYS PREPARED FOR WALKS OR BIKING. THE ROUTE GOES ALONG THE QUEILES' RIVERBANK, A FLAT AND GENTLE COURSE SHOWS RIVER'S USE BY LOCALS.

The route starts at Tabuenca, North direction, to take later the old road to Talamantes, descending to cross the El Molino ravine.

Crossing the ravine, ignoring the pass on the left, one ascends besides farmlands (ignoring the detour on the right) later continuing down the Coscollera hill onto the Santa Barbara hermitage ruins.

One arrives at another fork where the path to Talamantes is abandoned, then follows the track on the right. Some 100 metres later we take the fork to the right along a path leading to El Collado de Coscollera, until crossing El Molino stream.

From the ravine, the route ascends between walls, now cobbled, exiting again onto the Cantera track, which we follow to

To start climbing one should continue straight on along a wide grassy path, cross the Hoya Gallán ravine that we then leave on the other side to follow on to the right.

We continue to the mouth of the ravine to reach the main hill of El Bollón, from where the Ebro Valley can be seen. After about 30 minutes the peak of El Bollón can be reached (1036 metres).

ALL OVER THIS AREA MARKS LEFT BY MILITARY ORDERS ARE STILL VISIBLE. MALLÉN WAS THE HEADQUARTER OF THE SAN JUAN DE JERUSALEM ORDER, INHERITING THE POSSESSIONS OF THE TEMPLE AND EXTENDING ITS DOMAIN TO NOVILLAS, ALBERITE DE SAN JUAN, AMBEL, FUENDEJALÓN AND TALAMANTES. THE PRESENCE OF THE DINAMIC MORISH POPULATION CAN BE OBSERVED IN THE MUDEJAR BUILDINGS OF MAGALLÓN. THE SAME HAPPENED AT THE VILLAGES OF ALBERITE AND AMBEL, AS DID IN AGÓN, BULBUENTE, POZUELO DE ARAGÓN AND TABUENCA. ONE CANNOT LEAVE THE AREA WITHOUT TASTING THE FANTASTIC WINES, ESPECIALLY SWEET WINE AND AINZÓN CAVA, REGULATORY COUNCIL OF D.O CAMPO DE BORJA.

We start at the fronton courts in Ambel, situated to the South of the village. Here, the track leads to the local cemetery, the municipal park and to Talamantes via the La Fuente ravine. Leaving the ravine to the right we will direct ourselves north along a paved road, to later take a track on the right, crossing some crops fields and amongst agricultural warehouses we arrive at the sporting area of the village.

Once at this spot, we descend the El Fraile ravine to then continue to the east.

We arrive at the picnic area and cross the path towards the Talamantes road which we cross, following the Borja route on the other side, which takes us through olive and almond trees in a North-easterly direction. We come to a fork and continue straight on, ignoring the track on the right.

We cross a ditch to find another fork with three tracks. To then continue along the middle track, which, amongst cereal fields, gently ascends to the El Cabezuelo pass.

As we reach the pass we enter the village of Borja. The track turns to the north to end at another little pass. We descend to the other side of La Varella and, after leaving a path on the right side, we go Northeast around La Muela del Cabezuelo along a stony track.

One arrives at El Arco del Puntal, a little cabin and a large pile of stones, to continue through vineyards and almond trees ignoring the path on the left, we start to ascend the Huecha Valley. The track is quite rocky and steep.

There is a fork in the road next to a corral. As we descend to the left we reach another fork. We take the left, up along a path to some corrals. We continue down the valley, passing the ravine abyss. From here the track is less steep and rocky.

We cross the El Tejar path to continue straight on, while ignoring a couple of tracks on the left. Taking the road from Bulbunte to Ainzón to later pass by a couple of forest tracks that connect on the left, finally we go down towards the Huecha River. We take the ford across the river, arriving at the other side of a track on the right until finally exiting onto the road.

THIS ROUTE ENDS IN BORJA, A VILLAGE WITH BEAUTIFUL CIVIL AND RELIGIOUS BUILDINGS PRESERVING ITS HISTORIC PAST, SUCH AS THE SANTA MARÍA COLLEGIATE, THE ANCIENT PARISH CHURCHES OF SAN MIGUEL AND SAN BARTOLOMÉ AND THE SANTA CLARA, CONCEPCIÓN AND SANTO DOMINGO CONVENTS. OTHER SINGULAR BUILDINGS ARE THE CASA DE LAS CONCHAS, NOWADAYS THE COUNCIL HOUSE OR THE MISERICORDIA SANCTUARY, ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE VILLAGE.

The track ascends to the left, exiting into the road to Tarazona. We should continue to the right, going along the lowlands until Maleján. From here we take the N-122, which we cross to continue to the other side of the track to the winery. We continue straight on in a Northerly direction.

Later, crossing the tracks next to the rubbish dump and always following North we arrive at the old road from Tarazona to Borja, next to the little Torralba pond.

From where we turn right, go down next to the pond, along a wide track taking us to Borja. Ending at the road to the Sanctuary, which we cross to take the path to Torre de Pedernal on the other side, we then enter into the town of Borja.

FROM ALCALÁ DE MONCAYO TO AÑÓN, THROUGH THE MORANA VALLEY

This route along the high stretch of the Huecha River Valley can be done on foot or by bicycle.

The route commences in Alcalá de Moncayo, where we go along Justicia de Aragón Street. After crossing an estate. We follow a track with nice views. 5 kilometres from Alcalá, we bypass the corrals and a bit further turn left to arrive at the Las Landas corral.

We continue fording the Huecha River, to reach the Morana electric power station. We go back towards the corral to take the path below. A bit further taking the left to shortly arrive at a spring with a monolith dedicated to El Marqués de Santillana. Back to the main road we then continue until finding a path on the left, which leads us to cross the Huecha River via a medieval bridge. A short time later we arrive at Las Cuevas of Huecha and Añón.

The Castle in Añón, one of the best preserved in the area is worth a visit, as it maintains its original rectangular design. The building is distributed around a patio with five square fortified towers. As in Ambel, the Añon Castle has a church attached with similar characteristics to the castle, as it also once belonged to de The Order Saint John.

A masonry city wall flanked by rectangular towers crowned with battlements once surrounded the village of Añon. just a few remains are left of the wall, although some are important, such as the Virgen del Rio door, with its pointed arch and square arch stones. Nowadays the castle is a private property, but the patio is free to access.

THE ROUTE PARTLY RUNS THROUGH THE HUECHA RIVER, HAVING ITS SOURCE IN THE MORANA RAVINE, IN MONCAYO, WHERE SOME RAVINES CONVERGE. IT IS 51 KILOMETRES LONG AND ITS BASIN HAS A SURFACE OF 489 KM². AFTER GOING THROUGH AÑÓN, ALCALÁ AND VERA DE MONCAYO, THE WATERS OF THE HUECHA RIVER REACH AINZÓN AND MAGALLÓN TO ARRIVE LATER AT NOVILLAS, WHERE THEY CONVERGE INTO THE EBRO AT 239 METRES.
