The itinerary of the Malpaso path to the mountains and the Santo Domingo Hermitage begins at the GR1 (Great Route), in its stretch from Biel to Pozo de Pigalo. The GR1 finishes at the Erica La Fosa Pass, crossing paths with Santo Domingo to Luesia and from Biel to Pozo Pigalo, through the so-called Embite Ravine.

Later, we continue the route through the firewall, to follow a beautiful path flanked by woods. Said route leads us to the «Corral de Regusto» path, some 300 metres away, to descend first to the corral prairie and then, amongst pine woods, until reaching a very good track alongside The Arba River in Luesia.

On the left, continuing along the path for about 300 metres, then leaving the track at Foyausar Ravine we follow the left bank going deep into the poplar woods leading to a pinewood. Half way through our ascent we cross a track and continue along the path, near to the ravine, until coming out in front of another track which offers a fantastic view of the Santo Domingo Mountain Range.

THE ROUTE TAKES PLACE THROUGH PINEWOODS AND BEAUTIFUL OAK GROVES. THERE ARE ALSO HOLM OAKS, BEECH WOODS AND HOLLY. THIS IS A CHARMING ROUTE, FINISHING UP ON A HILL, WHERE ONE FINDS THE HERMITAGE, AND FROM WHERE A WONDERFUL VIEW OF THE SANTO DOMINGO MOUNTAIN RANGE TOGETHER WITH THE MOUNTAIN OF BIEL CAN BE ENJOYED. AS YOU WALK YOU CAN FIND OLD CORRALS AND COAL YARDS. IN AUTUMN, DIFFERENT KINDS OF MUSHROOMS ARE TO BE FOUND.

This route, Val de Castellar, Puy-Oliva and Valdeuquendo begins from the Castejón de Valdejasa pass, along the natural path leading to the local cemetery. Slowly, the route ascends following the Val de Castellar, in front of the country house. The first important crossing during the route is La Buitrera, distant 1,3 kilometres. As we reach the 3,5-kilometre we find a fork, here, the exit to the turnoff PR-Z 109, Valdecarro direction is to be taken. We continue to the left via Val de los Aceres and Puy-Oliva.

The path continues ascending giving us magnificent views. We arrive at another crossing: at Cubitar Verde, via the old Saragossan way and, a little further, along the edge towards the Caseta de Salmorrejo refuge. Amongst pine-woods we cover the last stretch of the route, where we can stop off at the cabin.

After resting, we return to Castejón de Valdejasa. To do so we must come back via the same route, but this time taking the Puy-Oliva and Valdeuquendo direction, where we will be able to contemplate a magnificent specimen of holm oak. After which we cross the Puy-Oliva corral and take the turn-off to El Paco hill.

Now the itinerary carries on along the route signalled as BTT «Circuito de Sora». The descent takes place after a pronounced sharp bend, with a steep slope. Finally the route continues descending until reaching Valdeuquendo, where the silhouette of Castejón de Valdejasa can be made out. Although one has to continue until a little further and connect with the Val de Cantales road (PR-Z 108), crossing the Paraje de la Fuente Vieja, thus ending the route at the road next to Castejón.

ALONG ITS THIRTEEN KILOMETRES, THE VAL DE CASTELLAR ROUTE OFFERS THE VISITOR A SUPERB VIEW OF CENTENARIAN WOODS. THIS OLD ROUTE, FORGOTTEN BY DAILY TRAFFIC, IS THE OLD PATH THAT FROM ZARAGOZA, WHICH CONNECTED WITH CASTEJÓN DE VALDEJASA. THE ROUTE CAN BE DONE ON FOOT, BY BICYCLE OR ON HORSEBACK.

The itinerary, 7 kilometres, begins in the municipality of Layana, in Los Bañales Street to be precise. As a reference you can take the old school buildings – a bar nowadays – The main facade of the building is the beginning of the path leading to the Roman remains, which give the name of the route. 1,5 kilometres later the remains are reached, first the Forum and then, further on, the hot baths, continuing through a forest path we arrive at a number of great columns that once belonged to the Roman aqueduct.

The path continues Southeast, through low-lying, sandstone mountains typical of the area. Forming capricious shapes 4 kilometres along the route we reach the town of Biota, where the silhouette of the Condes de Aranda palace-fortress, currently being restored, stands out.

After crossing some stockbreeding lands, the path descends until the Arba de Luesia riverbed. If the bed is dry one can continue until the centre of Biota village, although the best option, to avoid risks, is to continue on the right side of the road, where this trip, started in Layana, ends. Likewise the route may begin in Biota and finish in Layana.

THE SUCCESSIVE CONCENTRATION OF THE FARMING PLOTS MEANS THAT SOMETIMES, THE MARKS OF THE EXISTING ROUTE DISAPPEAR. THEREFORE, ONE SHOULD ALWAYS FOLLOW A SOUTHEAST DIRECTION Ñ TRAVELLING TOWARDS THE PALACE-CASTLE OF BIOTA Ñ OR TAKE A NORTHEAST DIRECTION WHEN GOING FROM BIOTA TO LAYANA.

We will start our route from Piedratajada, next to the Social Centre, where we take the street leading North until reaching the sign indicating the route to be followed, which in its first stretch is in a good state.

We cross extensive farming lands as we ascend, little by little, until reaching a well signed crossing where we turn right. Some metres ahead, left again, descending to wider track. We walk on through farming lands in a Northerly direction until we reach some isolated hills, easily identifiable.

Upon arriving we will see, to the left, Los Aguarales, a singular and unique natural setting in Aragón. The descent passes through a small, not clearly defined, however, well marked path. Given the setting a stop-off is order of the day allowing us to carefully observe the scenery.

We continue the route along a track used by vehicles, 200 metres on, on the right side, a path commences, which offers magnificent views of la Val river, livestock birthing huts are also to be seen.

We continue along the route, which leads us to the Corral De Blas, and we descend near a field. We can distinguish the Valpalmas silhouette, municipality at where one arrives following a clearly defined path.

LOS AGUALES DE VALPALMAS ARE NATURALLY FORMED, STRANGE AND CAPRICIOUS. HAVING THEIR ORIGIN IN THE EFFECT OF WATER ON THE CLAY AND SANDY SOIL IN THIS WAY CREATING AMUSING SHAPES. THE RESULT: A LANDSCAPE OF FURROWS, CONCAVES, MOUNDS RECESSES AND PINNACLES. AN AREA OF GREAT INTEREST FOR GEOLOGICAL SPECIALISTS IN THE MORPHOGENETIC EVOLUTION OF THE CENTRAL DEPRESSION OF THE EBRO. BIEL → POOL PIGALO

→ Duration

Three and a half-hours.

→ Difficulty

Medium, due to the unevenness of the route.

→ Recommended time of the year

All year round, although in autumn the views are magnificent, and the mountains are dotted with mushrooms.

Starting off from Biel, from behind the village houses, next to a river, which we cross to follow the marks of the GR1. They guide us along a path named «Senda del Correo» which we ascend, magnificent views of the village are offered. And as we rise towards El Collado de Correo (1162 metres), along said track we can appreciate the wonderful views behind us of The Mallos de Riglos.

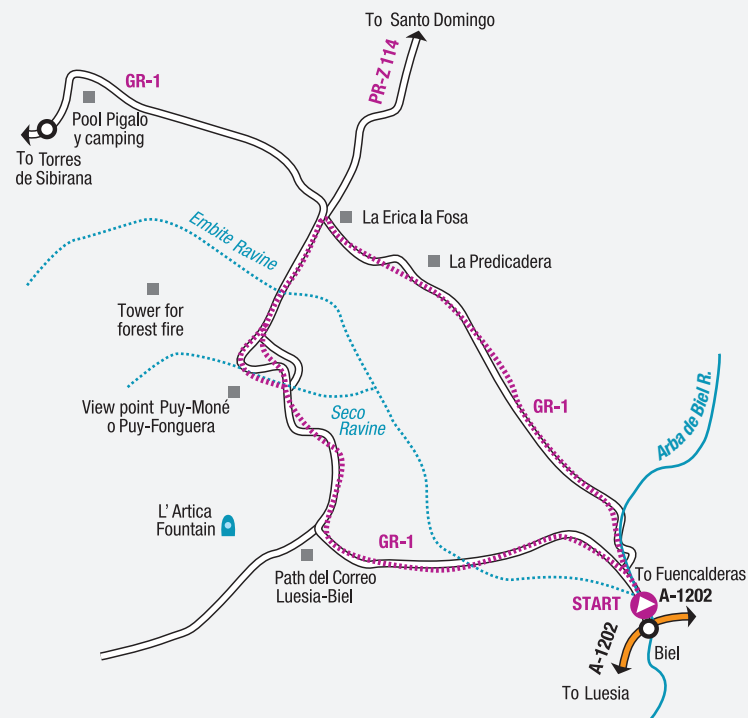

Once the Val de Biel is passed, the path turns stony and steep, meaning we must be especially careful until reaching the hill. From there we take a forest track to the right of the river. Looking below we can contemplate beech woods and The L'Artica Fountain, a visit of peace and quiet for another day.

Those who wish to visit The L'Artica Fountain can look for traces of the path and descend through beech woods, bearing in mind that later we must go up along the stony path on the right which leads us to the Puy-Moné viewpoint (1302 m). We continue following the initial itinerary, unless you want to go up to the magnificent watchtower taking a short cut via the Cabo Val o La Fraga paths.

The ascent to this wonderful viewpoint is highly recommended as it offers impressive views of the Santo Domingo mountain range with the Pyrenees in the background (Aspe, Bisaurín, amongst others).

Whether going up to the viewpoint or taking the path below, the road converges leading us to the Mal Paso area, a place where on rainy, snowy or icy days we should be especially careful. The path leads to a firewall at a spot called La Erica la Fosa, from where some other options are available. One of them being to follow the marks on the left, which lead us to the campsite and to Pozo Pigalo through spectacular beech woods with exuberant vegetation.

Our steps could also lead us to the Santo Domingo mountain range, along a pleasant path, crossing beech and pine woods, with a considerable slope to reach the Santo Domingo hermitage (1505 m). Not taking any of these options we walk on to Biel through the Embite ravine.

The descent through the ravine will take place through holm oak, oak, pine and holly woods until a forest track where we will take the right side (Southeast). The whole of this path is also covered by the GR1, so we won't have any problem to follow the track, which after passing through pools and eroded banks will take us again to the village of Biel.

This route of 10,5 kilometres begins at the crossing of the Sos road in direction to the Parador Nacional (State-run hotel). Just in front of the road one finds a stony path which descends to the Convent of Valentuñana.

After reaching Las Fuentes ravine, a few metres from the convent, one continues along a forest track on the right, crossing the ravine in a Westerly direction. From this point on, we always follow the forest track, which is in very good state, leaving aside the secondary paths on both sides.

The route descends until the ravine, be careful when crossing as there is a strong current. On seeing the fence that crosses, one has to find the metal gate, which allows us to pass. We take the track for a few metres more, which we then abandon to continue the path along the river.

Up we go zigzagging, avoiding the uneven terrain, to come out once more onto the forest track. A few metres later another fence, this time without a gate.

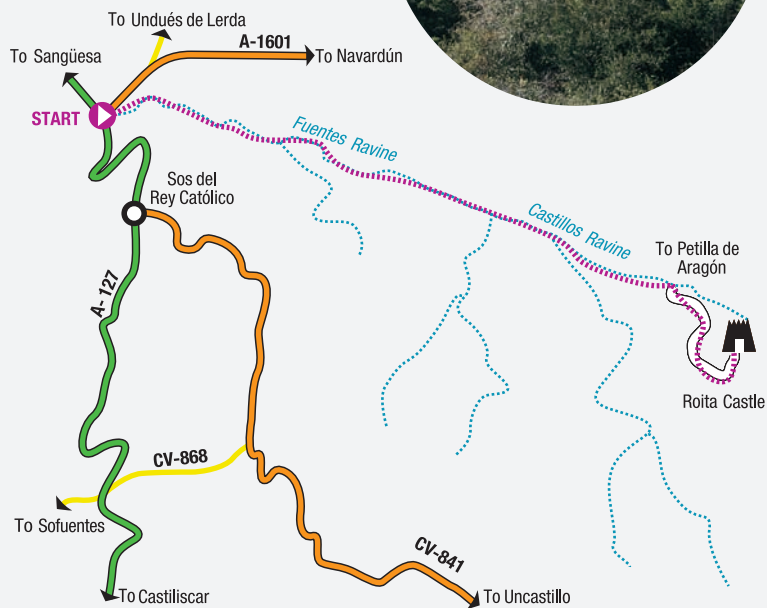

From this moment, the path switches between a forest track and stretches of the old route, although attention needs to be paid to the crossings, they are well marked.

The path still maintains stretches of the historic route and is stony in some parts, making for a more comfortable walk. The silhouette of the Riota castle follows us, as we arrive at a wider forest track, near a hill that leads to Petilla de Aragón. Here, we leave the GR1 and continue to the right ascending and coming closer to the ruins of the fortress.

The last metres of the route ascend to the Roita Castle remains, where one can observe magnificent views of the medieval fortress.

ROITA CASTLE IS LOCATED ABOUT 10 KILOMETRES FROM SOS DEL REY CATÓLICO, WITHIN THE RINCONERA RAVINE, CLOSE TO THE MUNICIPALITY OF PETILLA DE ARAGÓN IN NAVARRA. THE CASTLE WAS BUILT DURING THE REIGN OF SANCHO III EL MAYOR (1004-1035) AS A DEFENSIVE ENCLAVE

DURING THE WAR BETWEEN PAMPLONA AND THE COUNTY OF ARAGÓN. ITS PHYSIOGNOMY AND SITE ARE SPECTACULAR, AND THE CASTLE IS ONE OF THE MAIN ATTRACTIONS ALONG THIS ROUTE. KEEP IN MIND THAT THERE ARE NO SPRINGS AND THE ROUTE IS A LONG ONE, SO CARRY PLENTY OF DRINKING WATER.
